Now You Have It!

(Owensboro Messenger.)

The colonel desires the newspapers to make it clear that he wants to see both sides—regulars, insurgents, mugwumps, black and tan, lily whites, stalwarts and half breeds. He doesn't use all those words, but as he declares that he wants to see all classes of men and politicians it may be well to classify them. And having made that announcement, the colonel further said: "When I returned from Europe the insurgents had cold feet because my first four visitors were what are classed as regulars, being Senator Lodge, Secretary Wilson, Secretary Meyer and Representative Longworth. I had the same experience in the White House. Whenever J. Pierpont Morgan called on me, they said I had sold out to Wall street, and when Compers came around they said I was going to hoist the red flag. I had no intention of doing either."

And then he added: "I want to see Democrats also." There you have it! In ancient time all roads led to Rome. In modern days all roads lead to Sagamore Hill and woe unto him who will not take it! That is to say, woe unto all Republicans, no matter whether stalwarts, half-breeds, lily whites, black and tan, regulars, mugwumps or insurgents. As for the Democrats whom the colonel wishes to see, undoubtedly they would be glad to shake the hand of the lion and king and kaiser tamer, but, in other matters, the Democrats of the land prefer to take their instructions from the people and not from one who has his own party so tamed that it not only comes up and eats out of his hand, but wouldn't dare to eat out of its own hand without the permission of the colonel of Sagamore Hill.

Presidents, secretaries, judges, governors, senators, representatives, officials high and officials low—all turn their eyes on walking toward Sagamore Hill, while the president sits on the wide porch at Beverly and none but Ballinger visits him for consolatory purposes. It is the greatest moving picture show of them all! The Republican party has come to mighty low estate when it has to take orders from one who, after all, is the greatest straddler of his day and time. In the meantime, the Man in the Chair, at Beverly, knows and feels that the colonel of Sagamore Hill is keeping a weather eye on 1912 and an inauguration of another than W. H. T. in 1913. He is right about it, too—the next man inaugurated will be a Democrat, though the colonel thinks otherwise.

Pull Together.

The best way to build up a city is for each and every man in it not to strive to rend and tear down. When ever a man in the town is doing well don't tear him down. All the residents of a town are partners not opponents. In all likelihood the more business done by your rival the more you will do. Every gentleman who treats his customer honestly, courteously and fairly, will get his share, and the more business that can be secured by united effort, the better it will be for all. When a town ceases to grow it commences to die, and the more people to try kill off each other in their business and good name, the more rapidly will utter ruin come to all. Stand together for advancement of citizen. If a man shows ability to prosper do not pull him back with jealousy or weigh him down with cold indifference.—Lancaster Record.

Cleanliness in the Printing House.

You know the old proverb "Cleanliness is next to godliness." You appreciate cleanliness at its true worth in your home, a restaurant or any other place of social gatherings. You recall how dirt and untidiness seem to jar and throw everything out of tune and into disorder. Even dogs abhor wash day and house cleaning when everything is upset and disarranged. Well, the workman, consciously or unconsciously, is affected in the same way by dirty or littered workrooms. Where all is in disorder the most careful workman is affected by his surroundings, and will gradually yield to the force of environment and become less neat, orderly and careful. This is the worst effect of a dirty workroom—worse than the soiling of work, because the work is not only soiled after but soiled in the execution, since a high-grade standard can not be maintained in such surroundings for psychological reasons. There are exceptions, of course, some forceful personalities are stronger than any depressing environments, but the poor average creature is not.

Oldest People in the World.

One of the most interesting exhibitions of the year is the Japanese-British Exposition being held at Shepherd's Bush, near London. Japanese landscape gardeners have turned large tracts into flower gardens dotted with quaint Japanese houses, and there is a magnificent exhibit of the arts, crafts and industries of Japan. A party of Ainus, the people often called the oldest race in the world, who live in the northern part of Japan, are attracting much attention. There are but few of them left, though at one time they doubtless held a great part of Japan. It is thought that they will soon be extinct. It will be noticed that their faces bear but little resemblance to those of the Japanese. The Ainus are sometimes compared to the American Indians, both having held full sway over a country for centuries, only to be driven into a small part of their former territory by a strong and progressive race. The stronger and victorious races have often been unjust, oppressive and murderous in spirit and action, as the white man was against the red man here. Strange to say, the aborigines of almost all lands, when they are crowded back by the stronger arm, die almost as rapidly from civilization as from the bullet, like wild animals that pine and die when confined within pens.—(The Christian Herald.)

Staggers Skeptic.

That a clean, nice fragrant compound like Bucklen's Arnica Salve will instantly relieve a bad burn, cut, scald, wound or piles, staggers skepticism. But great cures prove its a wonderful healer of the worst sores, ulcers, boils, felon, eczema, skin eruptions, as also chapped hands, sprains and corns. Try it 25c at Paul Drug Co.

Rockfeller Gives Advice to Boys.

Mr. Rockfeller was asked to give his views on the old-time topic of "Chances for Ambitious Boys." The multimillionaire exponent of golf held up a deprecating hand that he had already discussed that subject, but after some persuasion he resumed his discourse:

"Business and financial conditions to-day offer opportunities for bright, ambitious and energetic boys, just the same as such opportunities thirty, forty or fifty years ago. But I, for one, am glad there are no prescribed rules that could allow every boy to become millionaires. A great fortune has its duties, and it imposes a burden. The ordinary man and woman does not realize the moral and business damage that can be done by wealth in the hands of an irresponsible person.

"Conditions are made by those who live under them. If the young men of to-day complain, they have no one to blame but themselves. But there is no cause for complaint. The young man who attends to his spiritual duties, who accounts for every penny he earns and spends, who works hard and who takes advantage of every opportunity that presents itself is bound to get along. There are no rules which I could give you which would enable every young man to become a millionaire.

"However, the boy who would succeed should not be continuously finding faults with his position and his employers. He should be economical and keep account of the pennies he spends as well as the dollars; he should attend his church and Sunday school regularly, for that will keep his mind clean and keep him out of bad companionship; he must not smoke nor drink nor contract any other habits which ruin the health and diminish the purse.

"Religion and education are coming to play a more important part in our business and social life than formerly. We have passed through an era which might be termed 'the awakening.' Let the young men select the work which is the most congenial, but let it be something clean and honorable; let them forget riches and set a worthy goal than money. Aim at the goal of perfection in spiritual, social and business life. That's it."

Tribute of Respect.

J. R. England was born August 31, 1844, aged sixty-five years eleven months and 23 days. He departed from this life July 28, 1910. He professed faith in Christ at about the age of seventeen and has ever lived a christian life. He was confined to his bed ten weeks. Oh how much he suffered no tongue can tell, but he bore it all with great patience and never murmured. He said he was trusting in God and if it was his will for him to get well he wanted to live, but if not, all was well with him. He was ready to go but oh, it is so hard to part with our best friends, but let us not weep and mourn as those that have no hope, far we know that papa is at rest. He is done with his trials and troubles in this life; he has gone to Jesus to live with him. He can't come back to us but we can go to him if we follow in his footsteps. He was a kind husband and a loving father. He always spoke kind to everybody. All who knew him loved him.

Funeral services were held at Antioch church by brother Payne. His remains were laid to rest in the family grave yard. He leaves a wife, ten children, two brothers and a host of relatives and friends to mourn his loss. "A precious one from us is gone, a voice we loved is still, a vacant place in our home which can never be filled." Written by his loving daughter.

Killed by Own Revolver.

The Coroner's jury impaneled to inquire into the death of Ira G. Rawn, late president of the Monon railroad, returned an open verdict, but found that he died from a shot fired from his own weapon by his own hand. The verdict is as follows: "We the jurors sworn on oath to inquire into the death of Ira G. Rawn at his home in Winnetka, on July 20, find that he came to his death at 1:29 o'clock on the morning of July 20 from shock and hemorrhages caused by a bullet from his own revolver, fired by his own hand, but whether this was accidental or with suicidal intent this jury is unable to determine, except that the location of the wound and the type of revolver render the accident theory less probable."

The verdict was so worded as to show that Mr. Rawn was believed by the jurors to have been responsible for his own death, but the question of suicide or accident was left to be fought out by the family and the insurance companies. It took several hours' deliberation to reach a finding.

Kentucky Wool.

The firm of J. M. Sabel & Sons, Louisville, are now busily engaged in receiving the numerous Wools that have been pooled throughout the State, and which they purchased from the different organizations. Mr. Daniel reports that the wool is of exceptionally good quality this season, and is proving satisfactory. He states that in a number of counties, he could not help but notice the marked improvement in the wool, indicating the introduction of improved strains of bucks, all of which undoubtedly means that the farmers are seeing the wisdom of renewing and bringing up their flocks by improved breeding. He reports a decided improvement in the wools of Pendleton county, which he thinks is largely due to imported high grade bucks, brought into that county by Mr. James B. Applegate. That gentleman shows the right spirit, and every sheep owner should do likewise.

The sheep industry of Kentucky needs building up, and it can only be done by the introduction of the right stock.—Bourbon Stock Journal.

Personal Cleanliness.

Right now is the time to begin the bath habit. A plunge into water of the proper temperature, or even a good sponging of the body from a hand basin, is a positive luxury during the hot months, and once the habit is formed, it will be hard to willingly give it up. For cleansing purposes, the tepid or warm bath, with plenty of soap and water, is the best; and this may be taken just before retiring, or any time during the afternoon. The warm bath (being 90 and 98 degrees) should be taken at night, to remove the soil and perspiration of the day, and where it can be borne, a sponging off with cool or cold water is to be commended. A good friction should follow, with a Turkish towel or Turkish both mits. If one could have a half hour's massage after the bath, it would do a great deal of good.

A hot bath, reaching from 98 to 100 degrees upward, should be taken only under the direction of a physician, as it is weakening.

If you have no bath tub, there are many ways of overcoming the difficulty, through using the laundry tub, or even the hand basin. The cool or cold bath is stimulating and strengthening, but many delicate persons can not stand the cold bath, as reaction does not follow readily. One can, however, accustom themselves to the cold bath, by gradually reducing the temperature of the water. Begin with the tepid temperature, gradually lowering the temperature, until you can stand the cold. A good time to take the cold bath is immediately on getting up in the morning, before you have eaten anything, following the rapid sponging off of the body with friction by means of a coarse towel. For a nervous person, or one suffering from disordered nervous system, the cold bath is of untold value.

The Cattle Market.

Grass cattle are running freely to all markets now, particularly the Western markets on account of the drought, and the season is at hand when the shipper should be extremely conservative; declines are not only probable, but are pretty apt to come every week, and if you don't get under the log you will be pretty certain to get caught with a bunch of cattle on hand that cost you more in the country than you can realize for them on any market in the country. There seems to be very few prime finished cattle in the section of country tributary to this market, so whether the good cattle hold steady or not will have but little effect upon the general run of our shippers, but it will be a pretty safe gamble that the medium and common kinds of cattle, grassy half fat steers, cows and heifers, will show a very material decline between now and the middle or last of September, and we reiterate, be conservative and buy them "worth the change" or let the owners take a shot at shipping.

Pellyton.

The crops in this section of country are looking well.

Mrs. Lucy Jasper, of Mintonville, is visiting the family of Mr. J. J. Coffey this week.

Mrs. Susie Hill and little son, Otho, of La Follette, Tenn., are spending the summer with relatives at this place.

Mr. J. M. Campbell, who is a traveling salesman for the Cumberland Grocery Co., spent last Sunday at home and reports that he is having a fine trade.

The school at this place is progressing nicely with Miss Emma Overstreet as teacher.

Miss Mattie Evans, who lives near Edith, is very sick with typhoid fever.

Rosa, the little daughter of Mr. C. M. Cooper, fell last Saturday and hurt her arm very badly.

Mr. Solomon Turpen, of Columbia, visited Mr. Walker Absher this week.

Rev. W. P. Wilkerson is conducting a protracted meeting near Mr. Walker Absher's this week.

Grover Corneal fell from a wagon last Friday and dislocated one of his arms.

T. O. Morton was at Campbellsville last Saturday.

Mrs. Pearl Hardin and children, of Campbellsville, are visiting relatives here this week.

Mr. D. K. Pelley sold J. H. Sanders one three-year-old mare for $200.

Mr. J. W. Henson bought a pair of two-year-old mules from G. A. Absher for $225.

Messrs. D. O. Pelley and G. L. Perryman were in Columbia the first of the week.

Taft Cancels Fair Dates.

President Taft has practically canceled his fall speaking dates. The only important one left open is that scheduled for St. Paul at the session of the Conservation Congress, and the President may not fill this. Press of executive business is given as the cause. It was announced at Beverly that the President had secured Senator Drane's consent to visit the West and make a report on political conditions to him. It is believed the President desires to keep out of the campaign. He will go to Panama in September.

Held Meeting in Graveyard.

In a graveyard Miss Inez Milholland, Vassar graduate, suffragette, friend of the working girl, amateur actress and champion female shot-putter, executed her first and one of her cleverest strokes in her campaign of "Votes for Women."

It was during her days at Vassar college. Miss Milholland, on behalf of a band of enthusiastic suffragettes enrolled from the students, had invited several prominent leaders of the cause to address a mass meeting on the college campus. The news of the approaching event reached the ears of the faculty, and President Taylor issued a stringent edict forbidding the gathering. Miss Milholland was not daunted, however. A short distance from the college grounds was a graveyard. Collecting her forces, she moved into the cemetery and the speeches were delivered among the tombstones. —From an article in The World To-Day.

Women Harvest Hands.

Many hundreds of women assisted gathering the harvest around Beatrice, Neb. They were lured to the fields by the offer of board and three dollars a day. A farmer went out into Beatrice looking for farm hands. Loungers in the town refused to work, and the farmer had to face the possibility of losing part of his crop. He went into a restaurant, and when waiting to be served, was struck with the idea of bidding for the waitresses for harvesters. He offered them $3 a day and every waitress threw aside her apron and went to the farm. They did such efficient work that other farmers sought women and they drew school teachers, stenographers and college girls as well.

Farm Notes.

Nothing improves the soil more rapidly than clover as a hog pasture.

Shots can be turned on rape or clover pasture, without grain.

At any rate do not forget the shade for pigs, and when you are setting it put in at least a few hearty apple trees just outside of the fence and see if they will not surprise you a few years hence.

We are glad to see among growers of wine more acres and hog lots sown to rape each year. It is a great feed, and if the small pigs are kept out of it during the wet mornings there is no danger of any trouble from hogs grazing this ration.

The man who takes pride in his flock saves the choice ewe lambs, and culls out and gets rid of the older and less desirable ewes, no matter how high lambs may be. There is no better way to build up a flock and keep it up to a high standard.

Get rid of everything that will attract and breed flies about the house and dairy. The old-fashioned custom of keeping a festering will barrel just outside the kitchen door was no doubt responsible for a good many of the Doctor's visits to say nothing of the ever-present stench and swarm of flies.

The gad-fly is the greatest source of worry to the flock. The constant buzzing of the fly around the sheep's head will stampede any flock. This fly deposits grubs in the animal's nose, which work upward into the nasal cavities, torturing the poor dumb brute almost beyond endurance. Tar smeared on the animal's nose will prevent the fly from depositing these grubs, put in addition to this, good shade should be provided.

How Authors Wrote.

Alexander Pope, who was the literary pontiff of his time, thought best when in bed. Whenever a thought came to him he would jot it down on a scrap of paper. His servant often found bedclothes and floor covered with white bits containing aphorisms which have now become hackneyed quotations.

Victor Hugo wrote "Les Misérables" standing up, an attitude which Hawthorne also assumed when he wrote many of his romances.

One leg thrown over the arm of a chair or the arm of his secretary's chair were Napoleon's favorite positions while dictating to Bourrienne, a position which he varied now and then by patting that scribe on the head or pulling his ears.

Sir Walter Scott could while reclining on a lounge dictate to his amanuensis, who frequently had to stop writing, so funny the dictated passages seemed to them.

Balzac, in a monk's robe, frequently wrote from midnight till noon, taking draughts of strong coffee when drowsiness attacked him, and thus shortening his life by many years, no doubt.

William Morris made one of his famous translations from the Greek while riding on the steam cars. Walt Whitman and Horace Traubel, original in all things, were most original in the position they took while thinking. They were wont, so Mr. Traubel says, to climb upon a pile of lumber and lie down upon their backs. In that way each found out what the others best thoughts were.—Ex.

Sunflower Philosophy.

You often read of wife-made men. Ever know one personally?

Nearly every man wears his straw hats and yellow shoes too long.

A sour man may make a living but a polite man may make a fortune.

What has become of the good old-fashioned child who always wanted to be at home by dark?

The greatest man is common enough.

Every man has a great idea he never carries out.

Most men are very vain about their worthlessness; they think people are always talking about it.

When you hear that a man talks mean about you do you "consider the source," or do you go to him about it?

It is pretty difficult to convince an old-fashioned person that good behavior is possible without going to church.

A woman believes she has a great faith in her husband if she watches, and doesn't see anything.

Prayers are allright, but you shouldn't expect them to be able to deliver a cold wave in July and August.

Ever think serious of the fact that some day you must die? Do you not think that you are such a favorite, a new rule will be made in your case?

"If burst head hurts others as much as it hurts me there would be less beer drinking, and no whiskey drinking."—(Parson Twine.

Charity may begin at home, but many a woman can tell you that it doesn't get much of a start, so far as her husband is concerned.

A man who has kept accurate count says that of ten men you meet eight will say something disagreeable, while nine out of ten women will say something agreeable.

A man who believes that fortunes are made by trickery, instead of by ability and industry, will never make one, for the reason that he goes about it in the wrong way.—(Atchison Kan.) Globe.

If a woman really loves her husband she will fan him these hot nights. But it isn't as much trouble for a woman to use a fan she can go to sleep and keep a fan going.

Every candidate thinks he has a great many friends who would be glad to do him a favor. That's the reason he is a candidate, and the friendship asset is always overestimated.

Bids His Girl-Wife Good-Bye.

Matt Bond, the nineteen-year-old son of J. L. Bond, a well-known stock trader of Lawrenceburg, and nephew of Dr. R. H. Crossfield, president of Transylvania University, Lexington, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head with a 32-caliber pistol. Young Bond, who was a clerk in the dry goods store of G. B. Hawkins & Co., was married to Miss Blanche Nowlin, the pretty fifteen-year-old daughter of A. J. Nowlin, of Tyrone, some fifteen months ago, but they became estranged five or six months ago and separated.

FOR ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

It affords us pleasure to make the statement that in due time Hon. James Garnett, of this city, will make his formal announcement for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General. While Mr. Garnett permits us to give this information to the public at this time he does so largely to satisfy many of his friends who are exceedingly anxious and solicitous for him to enter the race. Four years ago he was importuned by Democrats throughout the State, to announce for this office, but his business relations at that time prevented. Conditions have now changed, but before acceding to the desires of the many who have urged him to enter the contest, he sought to know the true sentiment of his party in this district, and since he has the information from substantial Democrats in nearly every county in the Eleventh that his candidacy would be heartily received and supported, he feels that further delay would be an injustice to his friends. So he said: "You may say to the Democrats, through The News, that I will ask for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General of this State and will, at the proper time, enter actively into the campaign and meet the Democrats in every county, and submit to them my claims."

In presenting his name to the Democrats of Kentucky we feel that tinge of pride so common where known and unquestionable ability and fitness are in evidence. He was born and reared in Columbia, a son of the late Judge James Garnett, whose reputation as a lawyer, jurist and Democrat was known and appreciated throughout the State. He is now thirty-eight years old and since he entered the practice of law has filled many positions of honor, and last year was urgently solicited to make the race for Circuit Judge in this the 29th Judicial district. He is a genial, cultured gentleman, a lawyer who stands in the front rank of his profession and enjoys a large and increasing clientele. As a Democrat he is true to the principles of Democracy and unflinchingly loyal to its nominees—a Democrat in victory, a Democrat in defeat, persistent and unflinching in service, yet discreet and effective in meeting an opponent. He possesses that fine sense of discretion and ability and training for deep legal questions which would not only make him a most attractive party nominee but would insure commendable results as a State official. He will not only have a solid party behind him in this section of the State but hundreds of substantial Republicans will vote for him because they know his worth as a true gentleman, an able lawyer and an honest, impartial official.

There is not a man in the party who would add more strength to the ticket and no one better qualified to render able service to the State as Attorney General. His nomination would give encouragement to the Democrats of this district and would arouse an enthusiasm that would materially advance our party interests. With an abiding faith in the judgment of Kentucky Democracy, we submit the above announcement for due consideration, and believe that Mr. Garnett's friends will give him that active, enthusiastic support necessary for victory.

A VOICE FROM SWEET OWEN.

It is the second largest Democratic County in the State. The Hon. James Garnett, of the good old county of Adair, has been urged to become a candidate for Attorney General. Mr. Garnett is an old time Democrat and has a host of friends in Eastern Kentucky. He has long been identified with the political interest of the State, and also been a past Grand Master of the F. A. M. lodge in the State. He is an able man and makes friends wherever he goes. His extensive acquaintance over the State will make him a very strong candidate.—Owen County Democrat.

The Prison Commission refused, last week, to parole four noted convicts—Tom White, Curt Jett, Henry Youtsey and Judge C. E. Booe. Their crimes are familiar to every body.

Thirty-seven days until the Republican Congressional primary. There is but little being done in this end of the district, but warm times are reported from the eastern end.

Simple Episcopal services for Mr. Carlisle were held in Washington. His body will remain in a vault at the Capital of the nation until fall, then it will be removed to Covington, Ky., for final interment.

A Democratic Convention has been called for this district, to meet in Somerset, Thursday, September 22, to nominate a candidate for Congress. County conventions Saturday, September 17.

Wendling, charged with the murder of Alma Kellner, has reached Louisville. He was sweated all the way from San Francisco to the Falls City, but he failed to confess. He will be represented by good lawyers and he will be given a fair trial.

The Independent Judiciary ticket in Tennessee defeated the Patterson crowd by over 41,000 majority. Patterson is to be voted for in November for Governor but his doom is sealed. His methods do not please a large majority of the good citizenship of Tennessee and he will be badly defeated.

Former United States Senator James B. McCreary, of Madison county, in a card, announces his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Governor. He states that he has often been honored by his party, and that he enters this contest because he has been warmly solicited from all sections of Kentucky. Being grateful for past favors, he does not believe that it would be right and just to refuse the request of so many friends at this particular time. Senator McCreary is one of the best known men in the State. His record in Congress and in the United States Senate is most commendable. There is not a doubt but he will be a formidable candidate for Governor.

Hon. L. C. Littrell, of Owen county, is a candidate for State Superintendent of Schools, subject to the action of the Democratic party. He is an educator well-known over Kentucky and is a very elegant gentleman. He is the present Representative of Owen county in the lower branch of the Kentucky Legislature, and is the author of the bill pensioning Confederate soldiers which passed both Houses but was killed by Gov. Wilson. Mr. Littrell has spent the better part of his years in school work and is well fitted for the position.

Secretary H. A. McKeene and his associate officers of the Illinois state farmers' institute are making plans for the gathering of 10,000 persons at Urbana on August 16 to 18. The occasion will be the mid-summer meeting of the farmers' institute, and a visit to and study of methods employed in the state agricultural school will constitute one of the chief purposes of the meeting. The objective points of visits will be the government agricultural experiment station fields, University buildings, greenhouses, laboratories, barns and feed lots. Samples of the annual experiments will be shown in the course of the meeting and many speakers of note will attend. Plans are making for the feeding of the multitude on the University campus. Prominent speakers from all sections will be present and a most enjoyable and profitable time is guaranteed. Mr. Sam Mourning, a former Adair county farmer, is taking much interest in the coming meeting, and he, as well as other Kentuckians, would be glad to see in attendance some of the agriculturist from this section.

Additional Locals.

The Institute.

Probably no finer body of Adair county teachers ever assembled than those who were in Columbia last week, attending the institute. The lady teachers were handsome in dress, exquisite in manners, their attractiveness bringing many complimentary expressions. The young men teachers were attired in their best, and in true Kentucky style convinced their sister instructors that they knew how to be entertaining.

The Superior Sex.

The is a lot of vainglorious expression on the part of the men about their being the superior sex. We hear too much of man's endurance, of his intellect, of his executive ability, and all that sort of thing.

Take a man and make him wear a spotted veil and he will be nearly blind within a year.

Pinch a man into corsets and within a week he will have heart trouble, chronic pleurisy, acute indigestion, appendicitis and a funeral.

Pile a few pounds of false hair on a man's head and he will succumb to brain fever within a month.

Tie a man's ankles in a hopple skirt and he will have rheumatism, followed by paralysis of the legs from lack of exercise.

Clamp a man's feet in tight shoes and make him toddle about on high heels and he will die of the charley horse.

Man loses on the score of endurance alone. Intellect and executive ability are argued by the capacity to combat these tortures and trials. Man is undoubtedly the inferior sex and should resire to the ast row of seats and be quit.—(Chicago Post.

The Hat Pin.

Why do the women wear hat pins?

They could fasten on their bon-nets by means of ribbons tied under their chins. But even when they have the ribbons under their chins they shove a few pins through their hats, just for looks.

Other styles of hats might be kept on by means of neat loops about the ears, or by means of concealed clasps clinching the hair.

However, there is no good in suggesting these improvements.

Every time some one raises a protest against hat pins they are made an inch longer.

It may be that the steel trust is back of the hat pin industry.

But when a lady comes home and strips three or four eyes and an ear off her hat pins in removing her bonnet it is time to think of some remedy.

Still if a remedy be suggested, then the women will take to wearing hat pins in their hair
when their hats are off.

The New Wireless Law.

After July 1, 1911, all steamers carrying fifty or more persons, passengers and crew, will be held in port till equipped with wireless telegraph apparatus. A circular calling attention to the recently-enacted law is being sent out by the Secretary of Commerce and Labor. This somewhat belated fruit of the wreck of the Republic in January, 1909, is another illustration of the well-worn adage that "tis an ill wind that blows nobody good.
Such advances have been made in transportation by water within the last twenty-five years that sea voyages are no longer perilous adventures but mere incidents of travel. Statisticians have made figures to show that cruising on a modern steamer as safe as living in a large hotel.
The relative rates of accident insurance charged upon the various classes of "risks" show that travel by sea is safer than working on a farm.—Ex.

The Gospel of Work.

Nothing strikes the foreigner more forcibly in traveling through our country than the fact that everybody is at work.
There is no leisure class here as there is in most countries, and there is very little of the sentiment so powerful in most countries that put an odium upon the man who works with his hands.
The students who come from South America to the United States take back this lesson, and it is one of the most important ones they can carry. The American youth feels it no disgrace to work his way through college, in fact, most of them realize before they get through that there is a real advantage in being thrown upon their own resources and made to understand the value of money as well as time. There is a value in work aside from the profit derived from it. It gives a spirit of independence and a consciousness of service, and both of these are necessary to the highest achievements.

Blotting Paper.

Blotting paper was discovered purely by accident. Some ordinary paper was being made one day at a mill in Berkshire when a careless workman forgot to put in the sizing material. The whole of the paper made was regarded as being useless. The proprietor of the mill desired to write a note shortly afterwards, he took a piece of waste paper, thinking it was good enough for the purpose. To his intense annoyance the ink spread all over the paper.
Suddenly there flashed over his mind the thought that this paper would do instead of sand for drying ink. And he at once advertised his waste paper as "blotting." There was such a big demand that the mill ceased making ordinary paper and was soon occupied in making blotting only the use of which spread to all countries.—Ex.

He Read It.

A well-to-do-deacon was one day told by his preacher, that one of the poor widows of the congregation needed some fuel and was asked if he would furnish it. "Well," replied the deacon, "I have the fuel and I have the team, but who is to pay me for it?" "I will," answered the preacher, "on condition that you read the first three verses of the 41st Psalm before you go to bed to-night." He consented and delivered the fuel. A few days afterwards the minister met him and asked him how much he owed him. "Oh, my brother do not speak of payment.
I did not know that such precious promises were in the Bible."
Moral: Ignorance of the Bible is one of the hindrances to Christian growth and usefulness.

Avoid Danger

When you are sick, or suffering from any of the troubles peculiar to women, don't delay—take Cardui, that well-known and successful remedy for women. Thousands of women have used Cardui and been benefited. Why not you? Don't take any chances. Get Cardui, the old, reliable, oft-tried remedy, for women of all ages.

TAKE CARDUI

It Will Help You

Mrs. Luzania Morgan, Sneedville, Tenn., writes: "For ten years I suffered with the turn of life, and tried many remedies without relief. I had pains all over my body and at times I could not sit up. At last I took Cardui and now I can do my housework. I have told many ladies about Cardui and recommend it to all sick women." Try it.

Mrs. J. H. Vire who has been on the sick list, we are glad to say is improving at this writing.

Mrs. Finis Phin, who has been in very delicate health for some time has improved some. On last Sunday morning she had the misfortune of spraining her ankle very badly.

Aunt Tinny Nelson has been quite sick, but is able to be out again.

Little Ruth Vance is very sick.

Wheat threshing is the order of the day in our community and the yield is very good.

Mr. and Mrs. Rant Parnell, of Ripley, Tenn., is visiting friends and relatives in our community. We are certainly glad to have Mr. Parnell and wife, with us. They are fine people. They also enjoy reading the Adair County News, and hear from their many friends through its columns.

When we learned of the death of Mr. W. R. Willis, at his late home at Columbia, our old time friend and neighbor, sadness prevailed in every heart. His funeral services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. J. A. Johnson, assisted by Rev. Currie. His remains were laid to rest in the family graveyard at old Pleasant Ridge church. His devoted wife and children have our deepest sympathy. Oh, that each one of his loved ones may receive the glad word of our Lord, "Enter thou into my joy and sit down upon my throne."

Several from our community attended Children's day at Big Creek church last Sunday. Large crowd, good order and a general good time was reported by all.

Gradyville.

C. O. Moss spent a few days on his farm in the Cool Spring community last week.

Alfred Parson was at Greensburg last Thursday.

Mrs. W. M. Wilmore spent a few days at the bed side of her brother, Dr. W. T. Grissom, at Bliss last week.

Messrs. J. Q. Alexander, Will Lyon and John Cook were calling on our merchants one day last week.

We are glad to note that Mr. J. M. Wilson has improved so in the last few weeks that he is able to ride horse back to town, and is looking a great deal better.

Mrs. Helen Pile, formerly of Columbia, spent several days visiting J. D. Walker and family, of our city, last week.

Miss Mary Caldwell, of Milltown community, spent one night last week with Miss Mollie Flowers.

The recent few days of sunshine put our farmers in position to get their meadow grass all up and their wheat threshed. We are glad to note that we had a very good yield of both.

Our town was grieved when the sad news reached us announcing the death of Mr. W. R. Willis. He was well-known in our town, and had many friends here.

Mr. J. T. Ellis, of Lexington, spoke to a fairly good audience of farmers at this place last Wednesday in the interest of pooling their tobacco. His argument was good and our farmers were very much enthused with his speech.

Uncle Charlie Yates, while assisting in hauling hay last Saturday fell off the loaded wagon. It gave him a considerable shake-up, but we are glad to note that there was no broken limbs, but it removed him from the stage of action for several days.

Mr. Lafe Akin, of Sparksville, was in our midst last Friday and reported everything moving along nicely. Mr. Akin informed us that they had all threshed their wheat in that section and had a very good yield and a fine quality. He said they had a good prospect for both corn and tobacco. We are glad to note that the ridge and about Sparksville for the past few years has been superior to our creek bottoms in the way of producing corn and tobacco as well as wheat.

Mr. Jesse Breeding, one of the oldest citizens of the Leatherwood creek section, was in our midst one day last week looking well, and reported the health of Mrs. Breeding as good as usual, while Mr. Breeding is seventy years old and his wife sixty years. They have raised ten children to be grown. The oldest is forty-four years of age and the youngest is nineteen. There is something about this family that can not be said of many. There has never been a death in this family and the children are all grown and in good health. They are getting along nicely with plenty of this world's goods to make them happy through this life. We only wish that Adair county was filled up with just such people as this family.

Glensfork.

William Rains, of Clinton county, who lived at this place twenty years ago, is visiting here with a view of purchasing property here.

H. C. Hudson, our up-to-date road overseer, is putting gravel on the public road through this place. Our roads are all in a very bad condition on account of the recent heavy rains. If the overseers expect their roads to be fit for travel during the Winter they must get busy at once.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Chapman, accompanied by their son-in-law and daughter, J. H. Kelsey and wife, started to Mississippi a few days ago. The trip is being made in Mr. Chapman's automobile.

Mrs. Edds and little daughter, of Louisville, are visiting Mrs. Edds' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Z. T. Taylor, this place.

Mrs. Elmer Woods, of Houston, Texas, is visiting the family of her uncle, Rev. G. R. Abrell, of this place.

Rev. J. F. Black is conducting a series of meetings at Picnic this week.

The singing class at this place has adopted Windows of Heaven No. 7. They think it is the best book they have used for several years.

Politics is becoming to be a tough issue in this neck of the woods. The last campaigner that addressed the voters at this place spoke with his coat off and a very large gun protruding from his pistol pocket.

Eugene Buster, of Creelsboro, has rented N. B. Kelsey's property at this place and will move to his new quarters in a very short time.

David Lawhorn and wife, who have been living in Louisville for some time, have rented Bill Samuel's property at this place. Mrs. Lawhorn was formerly a Miss Schilder, and was raised by the late Mrs. Theresa Dudley who lived in this community.

Pelham.

We are glad to say that there is no sickness in our neighborhood at this writing.

We are proud to know that Mr. Bill Butler is able to be out again.

Mr. Will Ed Squires was in Greensburg last week. While there he purchased a fine rubber tire buggy. Look out girls! Some of you are going to have a pleasant drive.

Mr. Roger Page and family were visiting in Taylor county last week.

Mrs. Roge Page's sister from Louisville is visiting here. She will be here until the 13th.

Bro. I. M. Grimesley, who has been teaching a singing school at Hutchison school house, has closed. There were 24 scholars and every one took an interest and tried to learn. There were some spectators who came just to laugh at the scholars. Bro. Grimesley will begin another singing school the 1st Saturday night in September. Most all his class can read the notes of any song in their book.

Mr. Bill Hood has purchased a set of blacksmith tools and has a shop ready to shoe horses and do all kinds of blacksmithing. Every body ought to patronize him as he is a new beginner.

Bro. Rice will preach at Hutchison school house the 3rd Sunday at 11 o'clock.

Wheat has about all been threshed in this neighborhood. It was better than was expected.

Milltown.

Mrs. Bettie Waggener and her daughter, Miss Pearl, of Columbia, visited at Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas' last week.

Miss Mollie Caldwell, of Columbia, visited relatives here several day last week.

Miss Tommie Dokoney, of Cane Valley, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Chapman Browning, of near here.

Miss Montra Thomas is visiting her sister, Mrs. Emma Breeding, at Neatsburg this week.

Messrs. Jimmie Hoy and J. W. Viers, of Gradyville, were here last Saturday evening.

Miss Pollie Shirley visited Miss Emma Skaggs last Saturday and Sunday.

Several from here attended childrens' day at Big Creek church last Sunday.

Mr. Charlie Thomas was in Columbia Sunday.

The social at Mr. G. T. Rogers last Saturday night was largely attended. His daughter, Miss Minnie, assisted by Miss Bess Leftwich entertained the young people most delightfully.

W. S. Hindman bought of R. P. Browning eleven shoats for $33.

MILLTOWN NO. 2.

The weather is fine at present.

Prof. P. D. Neilson, of Columbia, was here last Tuesday.

V. Sullivan and Dan Hatcher were with our merchants last week.

A. M. Mercer, Jim Tutt, Jr., and Cassius Cheatham were in Columbia a day or so last week.

Miss Mollie Caldwell was visiting at Mrs. J. W. Townsend one night last week.

J. A. Caldwell is in from Bowling Green for a few weeks stay.

There was a moonlight party given at the home of Miss Minnie Rogers last Saturday night and young folks all reported a good time.

Mr. Jo Johnston was in Columbia several days of last week on business.

Mrs. J. R. Tutt sold to Bud Deering one calf seven weeks old for $10.

Several from this place attended the ball game at Miami last Saturday.

Mr. Finis Wilson, who plays ball with Memphis, Tenn., was visiting his parent's at this place last week.

Miss Tommie Dokoney is visiting relatives at Cane Valley.

J. C. Townsend visited Geo. H. Nell, at Gradyville, several days of last week.

The carpet for the church has arrived and will be ready for use at an early date.

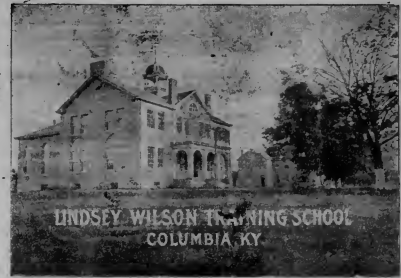

Mr. Dan Curd, of Cave City, was calling on our merchants last week.

Sherrod Hatcher has about all the wheat threshed in this community.

Every body is getting ready for the Columbia fair.

Rollin Johnson's new stock barn is nearing completion

Most of the wheat in this neighborhood has been threshed and the yield was not very good this time.

Owensby.

The health of this community is very good at present.

Wheat threshing is the order of the day, and from what we learn there is just about a half crop.

From what we learn lightning has been doing considerable damage in different parts of the state. On the 27th ult., it struck a tree near Mr. Sam Aaron's killing eight very valuable sheep and crippling another.

On the 31st, ult., the friends and neighbors of Aunt Sarah Clayton, gathered in to celebrate in honor of her 81st birthday. Her sister-in-law Mrs. Malinda Clayton, of Russell Springs, is spending the week with her. It is very interesting indeed, to hear those two old ladies talk of the good old time when they were girls.

Mr. Geo. Kearns and granddaughter, Miss Pearl, Misses Parthina Pierch, Stella Long, Lena and Vardie Polson, visited the family of M. L. Owens Sunday.

Mr. E. L. Reese is enjoying a lively trade and giving entire satisfaction with his woolen mill. Mr. Reese is an up-to-date gentleman and will do you fair and square, and we think you ought to patronize him.

Uncle Flem S. Carter is very feeble at this writing.

Mrs. Ona Fields of Monro City Mo., delivered a very interesting lecture at the fifth Sunday school Convention, at Jamestown, the 31st.
